What happens in Jackpot… shouldn’t stay in Jackpot!

This training was created with your needs in mind and can equip you for success in your local association and classroom. This is a pick-me-up to help us all grow our strength, membership, participation and voice. And we need you to be there.

The majority of trainings will begin on August 6, however, there are two trainings that are so important we had to run them early beginning August 5.

August 5 at noon & August 6 (space limited)
- SPARKS for teachers in their first five years
- Advocacy for member advocates

For the remainder of the classes, on August 6, 7, 8, you’ll have an opportunity to choose from 21 courses. (space is limited)

Playing for Keeps Class Descriptions

SPARKS—starts August 5
This class is designed by you and for you with a little help from staff and SPARK graduates. It’s all about YOU. This class is for educators in their 1st-5th years of teaching. What SPARKs your interest?

Advocacy—starts August 5
Gain an overview of teacher rights in Idaho, learn when to advocate and how to implement it with hands-on practice. Learn how to advocate for people on growth plans or probation and how to organize around rights cases in the local.

Jokers’ Wild—Connecting the Dots— Full Day
The 2010 elections proved the impact politicians can have on public education. If you work in a school, you work in a political environment. Our working conditions and our students’ learning conditions are impacted by decisions made by elected officials at the local, state and national level. We’ll discuss the players in today’s political landscape from the so-called “ed reformers,” corporations, think tanks and wealthy philanthropists who determine education policy nationwide. Learn how IEA members can fight back. Your voice matters!

Full House—Team Building
Great session to attend with your entire executive board. Learn how to use each other’s strengths to accomplish the local’s goals, communicate more effectively and empower the local to be a “team effort” and not rely on one or two people to make things happen.

Beyond Break Even—Energizing Your Local
Does your local need a little dusting off—or even a dramatic facelift? Then this workshop is for you. Learn skills and get new ideas for how you can put the “zing” back in you’re amazing!

I CAN DO IT! Created by teachers for teachers
Learn about the elements for successful classroom management, communication styles and how they relate to student/teacher/parent communication. Construct interventions for selected difficult behaviors encountered in the classroom. Get hints that help create the smooth flowing classroom. Acquire information that will help build successful parent/teacher relationships.

Pin Ball Wizard—Technology
Learn the latest in classroom technology and get cool tips on how to use it.

High Roller—Leading in an Organizing Culture
Effective leaders are effective organizers. Learn how you can use your leadership style to strengthen your local.

The Odds Are Good—Organizing for Keeps—Full Day
Covers many concepts of engaging members, with a focus on labor history, schools of organizing thought, the use of deep listening and conversations, and creation of effective organizing plans. Using tried and true methods of union organizing, participants will emerge from this one-day crash course with a solid foundation for shaping their locals into more powerful structures.

Everybody Wins—Problem Solving
Learn the art of problem solving. Take care of things at the lower level before they become a grievance—or worse.

House Advantage—Communications
You can be doing incredible things in your local and if no one hears about it, it’s as if it didn’t happen. The IEA Communications Director will give you tips and techniques that you can use to tell your members and the world outside of your local about all the good work you’re doing.

Hedging Our Bets—Survive and Thrive
For educators looking for ideas to reduce stress, organize their classroom, time management, and strategies for grading and establishing classroom procedures.

Skin in the Game—Leadership 101
Understand what it means to be a local leader: be prepared to run a meeting, know parliamentary procedure, your role as president, vice president, secretary, treasurer—it’s more than a title. Learn how to function as a team, set goals, be responsible for your local dues and create a stronger local.

Upping the Ante—Charlotte Danielson Evaluations
Learn the challenges of the new evaluation tool. Participants will learn about the four domains of the Charlotte Danielson Evaluation tool.

Doubling Down—Coalitions and Community
Our opponents are successfully using money and messaging to advance their agenda. If we are to successfully fight back we can’t do this work alone. Learn how and why we need to think beyond the struggles of our own contracts and schools. How do we build awareness and support among other individuals and organizations in our communities? We must build external relationships in order to strengthen our organization and continue to maintain these relationships so we have allies in our time of local or state crisis.

Playing With a Full Deck—Building Strong Locals—2 Sessions
A comprehensive training that identifies the traits of strong locals and gives you organizing tools to start to strengthen your local and avoid burn-out.

Organizing and ESP—Full Day
This ninety-minute session will focus on aspects of organizing related specifically to classified personnel (ESPs). Topics will range widely, from talking across job families, living wage efforts, to making time for one-on-one conversations. Staff and experienced support personnel can answer participant questions about how to engage and recruit ESPs into membership.

Winner Takes All—Membership—2 Sessions
Learn about building a structure throughout the year that keeps your membership healthy. Acquire techniques and information for talking to potential members and receive the materials you need to recruit members in the fall.

Bank Roll—Connecting the Dots Political Landscape
Learn how IEA members can fight back. Your voice matters!

A Heavy Hand—Organizing for Bargaining
Attendees will have a chance to review the most successful organizing strategies to ensure a good bargain. The tools and strategies that will be discussed in this workshop will allow your local to successfully organize to bargain from a position of strength, and not a position of weakness.

Running the Table—School Board Elections
Learn how to make a difference where it really counts by affecting school board elections.

All-In—Building a Strong Site Through Organizing
This ninety-minute session will focus on strategies to help both new and experienced leaders to build stronger sites. From ten-minute meetings to close conversations, participants will be exposed to a variety of strategies and tactics useful in creating a more “tuned-in” building. While focused on current members, a component of this session will be devoted to long-term strategies to recruit potential members.

Cashing in Your Chips—Member Benefits
Get the most out of your membership and share what you learn with your colleagues.

Pit Bosses In the Building—Building Rep Training
The building structure is one of the most critical pieces of our Association’s success. Almost everything starts there and ends there. This is an energetic training led by people who walk the walk—real building leaders.
